RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Co-Principal Investigator, University of Pittsburgh, School of Social Work
Understanding transitions to adulthood among child welfare involved youth (2008-present)
Analyzing administrative data from the Allegheny County Department of Human Services to understand the pathways of youth across child serving systems (e.g., child welfare to juvenile justice) and to assess the outcomes of youth who “age out” of the child welfare system.

Principal Investigator, University of Pittsburgh, Center on Race and Social Problems
The transition to adulthood among child welfare involved youth: A qualitative examination of race, gender, and service use (2008-present)
Designing and implementing a qualitative study of youth aging out of the child welfare system. Training and supervising graduate and undergraduate research assistants in conducting interviews, analyzing data, and writing up results.

Co-Investigator, University of Pittsburgh, Center on Race and Social Problems
Multidimensional Characteristics of Incarcerated Youth and the Role of Race (2006-present)
Collaborating with other faculty members to conduct a comprehensive survey of incarcerated youth, focusing on race, gender, and mental health and substance abuse problems.

Co-Investigator, University of Pittsburgh, School of Social Work
Photovoice: A Community Based Research Project to Involve Older Adult Methadone Clients in the Decisions that Affect Their Lives (2005-2006), Dr. Daniel Rosen, Principal Investigator
Implemented and assessed a photovoice research intervention with older African American methadone clients in which participants engaged in photography and discussion.

Research Associate, University of Michigan, School of Social Work
Child Behavioral Healthcare Utilization among Medicaid-Insured Youth (2004-2005)
Funded by the State of Michigan; Dr. Mary Ruffolo, Principal Investigator
Analyzed Medicaid records for youth with mental health diagnoses to assess the impact of individual and community characteristics on behavioral healthcare services.

Principal Investigator, University of Michigan, Department of Sociology/School of Social Work
Gendered Expectations in Juvenile Justice and Alternative Programs for Girls (2002-2005)
Designed and conducted independent dissertation research project. Used multiple qualitative methods – interviews, focus groups, ethnographic observation, and document analysis – to examine two residential programs for adolescent girls. Authored dissertation and journal articles.

RESEARCH EXPERIENCE, CONTINUED

Research Associate, University of Michigan, Institute for Social Research
Female Adolescents and Justice (2000-2003); Funded by the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention; Dr. Rosemary Sarri, Principal Investigator
Participated in all aspects of a comparative evaluation of residential and community-based programs for girls at-risk of entering or in the juvenile justice system. Administered surveys, analyzed data, and co-authored reports and publications.

Research Associate, University of Michigan, Institute for Social Research
Parental Experiences with the Juvenile Justice System (2000-2002); Funded by the Wayne County Department of Community Justice; Dr. Rosemary Sarri, Principal Investigator Analyzed data from interviews with parents of youth in the juvenile justice system. Supervised undergraduate research assistants. Co-authored report on findings.

Research Assistant, University of Michigan, School of Social Work
Seriously Mentally Ill Women: Coping with Parenting (1999-2002)
Funded by the National Institute of Mental Health; Dr. Carol Mowbray, Principal Investigator
Analyzed and managed quantitative data from longitudinal study of mothers with mental illness and their families. Co-authored papers for publication and presentation.

Evaluator, Art Therapy Program, State Training School, Michigan (1999-2000)
Evaluated art therapy program for young women at a juvenile correctional facility. Prepared reports for the funder, the institution, and for academic publication.

Research Assistant, University of Michigan, Poverty Research & Training Center (1998-1999)
Dr. Sandra Danziger, Principal Investigator
Investigated effects of welfare reform on adolescent parents. Conducted interviews with young mothers and service providers. Researched relevant policy and implementation.

Research Team Member, University of Michigan, Detroit Area Study (1997-1998)
Dr. Eduardo Bonilla-Silva, Principal Investigator
Participated in the development, implementation, and analysis of a survey research project examining racial attitudes among African Americans and Whites in the metropolitan Detroit area.
