SBIRT Interprofessional (IP) Education and Practice

The following is a report on an investigation of current materials and practices used to educate and demonstrate SBIRT interprofessional education and workflow. The investigation focused on identifying the availability of videos that demonstrate SBIRT interprofessional collaboration in practice, i.e., huddles, team meetings, educational seminars.

Key Findings:
Each of the key findings below reference videos or articles that follow.
1. There is a dearth of SBIRT specific videos depicting interprofessional huddles or team meetings. (Video Example: 1; Article: 9)
2. Several videos demonstrate interprofessional collaboration in practice or education with a behavioral health (BH) focus. (Video Examples: 2, 3, 4, 5)
3. Some videos demonstrate IP a case conference education in which students problem-solve in interdisciplinary teams. (Video Example: 6)
4. The majority of IP videos available are in the form of lectures detailing ideals of interdisciplinary workflow and collaboration, rather than the practice in action. (Video Examples: 7, 8)
