Open Rank Faculty Position
in Clinical Social Work

Job Description
The University of Pennsylvania's School of Social Policy & Practice (SP2) invites nominations and applications for an open-rank faculty position. We seek talented researchers whose scholarship on direct practice focuses on, but is not limited to, health and mental health, schools, populations impacted by trauma, active duty military and veteran populations, criminal justice, international social work, and aging. We seek candidates with the potential to build innovative community partnerships and who demonstrate evidence of, or future potential for, leadership roles in social work education within the School and the social work community. Mid-career and senior applicants must have a record of excellence in scholarship and a commitment to mentorship of emerging scholars. The appointment will begin July 1, 2017.

Applicants must possess:
• Ph.D. in social work, social welfare, or a related field (or have a doctorate by the date of appointment).
• MSW and at least two years of post-masters direct practice experience with individuals, families, and/or groups. Direct practice experience in agency settings and/or inter-professional work environments is preferred.
• Teaching and supervisory experience are highly desirable, as this position will involve engagement with the Doctor of Philosophy, Clinical Doctorate of Social Work (DSW), and MSW programs.

The School of Social Policy & Practice
The faculty of the School of Social Policy & Practice is multi-disciplinary and has a strong commitment to theoretical and empirical scholarship as well as advancing social justice in local, national, and global contexts. Penn’s academic community provides opportunities for collaboration with health institutions, schools, social service and nonprofit agencies, and government organizations.

Qualified and experienced applicants at all ranks will be considered for the position. Mid-career and senior applicants are highly desirable. Rank and salary are commensurate with qualifications and experience. The University of Pennsylvania is an EOE. Minorities/ Women / Individuals with disabilities/ Protected Veterans are encouraged to apply.

Application review will begin October 1, 2016. Applicants should submit a letter of interest, curriculum vitae, the names and contact information of three references, and two examples of peer-reviewed publications by October 1,2016 to:
