Announcement of Faculty Positions
Assistant Professors, tenure-track
Mandel School of Applied Social Sciences
Case Western Reserve University (Cleveland, Ohio)

The Jack, Joseph and Morton Mandel School of Applied Social Sciences (MSASS), the graduate school of social work at Case Western Reserve University, invites applications for two (2) tenure-track positions at the rank of Assistant Professor. This year we are particularly interested in recruiting at the early career level (from recent doctorates to senior assistant professors). Candidates who have a strong research agenda who can enhance the School’s mission of advancing leadership in social work and nonprofit education, scholarship, and service to build a more just world are encouraged to apply. The specific area of expertise is open.

For a century, the Mandel School has had a long tradition of excellence in research, teaching, and service. Ranked #1 in Ohio and #9 nationally among schools of social work, the Mandel School integrates its education, research and service to enable our students to become leaders in social welfare and human services. Assistant professors receive strong pre-tenure faculty mentorship while the city of Cleveland offers a culturally diverse urban environment for applied community based research collaborations. Case Western Reserve University is a private research intensive university with a renowned medical school and nursing school, situated in a vibrant arts and cultural center. Both the University and the Greater Northeast Ohio region offer exceptional opportunities for collaboration in research and service with premier social service and health care organizations.

We encourage those who meet the following criteria to apply:
Minimum qualifications
• An earned doctorate in social work or other relevant field by the time of appointment
• Demonstrated ability to develop and to conduct a program of research and scholarship that will enhance the missions of the School and the University
• Demonstrated potential to attract funding for their research

Preferred qualifications
• An earned master’s degree in social work from a CSWE accredited social work program
• Has 2 or more years post-master’s experience in social work or nonprofit management
• Demonstrated ability and interest in teaching master’s students in foundation or advanced micro, macro, or nonprofit courses and/or doctoral students

In employment, as in education, Case Western Reserve University is committed to Equal Opportunity and Diversity. Women, veterans, members of underrepresented minority groups, and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

Case Western Reserve University provides reasonable accommodations to applicants with disabilities. Applicants requiring a reasonable accommodation for any part of the application and hiring process should contact the Office of Inclusion, Diversity and Equal Opportunity at 216-368-8877 to request a reasonable accommodation. Determinations as to granting reasonable accommodations for any applicant will be made on a case-by-case basis.

Interested persons should submit the following material to mandelsearch@case.edu: (1) a letter of interest, (2) curriculum vitae, (3) a recently published article, preferably as the lead author, (4) a two-page research statement, (5) a two-page teaching philosophy statement, and (6) three letters of reference.

To ensure priority consideration, applications must be received by September 1, 2015. Early application is advised.
