

ARIZONA STATE UNIVERSITY COLLEGE OF PUBLIC PROGRAMS SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK
FACULTY POSITION

Applications are invited for a tenure track Assistant Professor position in Tucson to start Fall, 2014. Expertise in health and health disparities, behavioral health, children and families, or macro practice is preferred, and experience in working with culturally diverse populations is especially valued. Interest in immigration and border issues, and related social problems, also is desirable.

Candidates must have an earned doctorate in social work or a related field by the starting date of appointment. An MSW is preferred. A promising scholarly research agenda that has the potential for external funding to support the program of research is essential, as is evidence of ability or potential for teaching at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Ability to teach social work practice courses is highly valued.

Arizona State University School of Social Work offers the BSW, MSW and Ph.D. degrees, with locations in the ASU Downtown Phoenix campus and in Tucson. ASU is a leading research university committed to expanding educational access, use-inspired and community embedded research, and using research and teaching to transform society. The SSW is a vibrant community of scholar-teachers committed to having a racially and culturally diverse faculty and student body. The School's curriculum, research, and community partnerships emphasize understanding and respect for the unique social, political, and cultural diversity of the Southwest.

ASU provides an intellectually collegial and supportive environment that fosters interdisciplinary and international research. Our strong research and educational infrastructure includes the NIH/NIMHD funded Southwest Interdisciplinary Research Center, the Center for Applied Behavioral Health Policy, Title IV-E Child Welfare Programs at the BSW and MSW levels, the Office of American Indian Projects, and the Office of Latino Projects. The School engages in collaborative projects across the State of Arizona and is an active participant in the diverse urban and community life of Phoenix and Tucson.

Salary is commensurate with qualifications. Early application is advised. Candidates must submit a curriculum vitae, names and addresses of three professional references, a statement of research agenda and teaching interests, teaching evaluations (if available), and no more than two samples of written/published material. Please indicate if you are interested in positions in Phoenix, Tucson, or either location. Send applications and address inquiries to:

Steve Anderson, Director School of Social Work College of Public Programs Arizona State University
MC 3920, 411 North Central Ave, Suite 800 Phoenix, AZ 85004-0689

or

Applications may be sent electronically to sswfacultysearch@asu.edu

The first application deadline is November 1, 2013; if not filled, applications will be reviewed weekly thereafter until the search is closed.

ASU conducts pre-employment screening for all positions, which includes a criminal background check and verification of work history, academic credentials, licenses, and certifications.

Arizona State University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. (see ASU's complete non-discrimination statement). The College of Public Programs actively encourages diversity among its students, faculty, and staff.