Calling all community members! The Community Health Series Partnership (CHSP) is thrilled to carry the momentum from May's Dinner and Dialogue into October!

2023's second Dinner and Dialogue will take place at the University of Pittsburgh's Homewood Community Engagement Center. We will continue to explore the social determinants of health as we bring the mental health crisis into focus. A panel of community and University leaders will share their work around the state of mental healthcare on a regional, national, and global scale. We will examine interventions available for addressing mental health concerns and dissect the stigma that exists around accessing meaningful treatment.

We are pleased to feature an interactive poster exhibit during October's Dinner and Dialogue. University of Pittsburgh medical students will share the work done as a part of their participation in the 2023 Dean's Summer Research Project SDoH Program. Come ready to explore and ask questions!

Please RSVP for this session using the link or QR code below.

CHSP is a collaboration between Pitt's Clinical and Translational Science Institute, the Urban League of Greater Pittsburgh, the New Pittsburgh Courier, and UPMC's Office for Engagement and Inclusion. The goal of the Partnership is to center and uplift community voice as we co-create and co-learn around health topics of relevance. To get involved, sign up for our newsletter or email Leah McKown at lhm39@pitt.edu.
