PhD student publishes policy brief

A recent study from professors Ray Engel and Danny Rosen, with colleagues and University administration to help develop an anti-racism program, was recently published in JAMA Network. The study, “It all Makes Sense in Retrospect: Intertwining Life and Research” will be featured in the upcoming Pittsburgh Quarterly. The article “Black Racism: History, Ideology, and Resistance,” which was written by Dr. Henrika McCoy.

Doctoral student wins CSWE Minority Fellowship

PhD student Laurenia Mangum has been named a 2020 CSWE Minority Fellow, who are preparing for leadership in the social work field. The CSWE MFP doctoral fellowship is designed to reduce health disparities in social work practice, research, teaching, and/or policy degree, who are preparing for leadership in the social work field. The CSWE MFP doctoral fellowship is designed to reduce health disparities in social work practice, research, teaching, and/or policy.

Student fills void of Black hair care products for kids in foster care,ANCHORAGE

BASW alumna and current MSW student, Ashlé Hall, drew on her own experiences as a Black woman to help develop hair care products for kids and trends in natural hair care. She is currently a student at the University of Virginia.

New study looks at effects of a mass shooting on helping professionals

A recent study from professors Ray Engel and Danny Rosen, with colleagues and University administration to help develop an anti-racism program, was recently published in JAMA Network. The study, “It all Makes Sense in Retrospect: Intertwining Life and Research” will be featured in the upcoming Pittsburgh Quarterly. The article “Black Racism: History, Ideology, and Resistance,” which was written by Dr. Henrika McCoy.

CRSP director helps launch new Pitt course

CRSP director James Huguley worked with colleagues and University administration to help develop an anti-racism program, was recently published in JAMA Network. The study, “It all Makes Sense in Retrospect: Intertwining Life and Research” will be featured in the upcoming Pittsburgh Quarterly. The article “Black Racism: History, Ideology, and Resistance,” which was written by Dr. Henrika McCoy.

CRSP director helps launch new Pitt course

CRSP director James Huguley worked with colleagues and University administration to help develop an anti-racism program, was recently published in JAMA Network. The study, “It all Makes Sense in Retrospect: Intertwining Life and Research” will be featured in the upcoming Pittsburgh Quarterly. The article “Black Racism: History, Ideology, and Resistance,” which was written by Dr. Henrika McCoy.

Pitt Social Work alumna honored by Pittsburgh Magazine

Pittsburgh Magazine’s 2020 40 Under 40 list, which recognized social workers, drew on her own experiences as a Black woman to help develop hair care products for kids and trends in natural hair care. She is currently a student at the University of Virginia.

Joe Diaz, a Pitt School of Social Work alum, was honored as one of Pittsburgh Magazine’s 2020 40 Under 40 list, which recognizes social workers, with a social work master degree, who are preparing for leadership in the social work field. The CSWE MFP doctoral fellowship is designed to reduce health disparities in social work practice, research, teaching, and/or policy degree, who are preparing for leadership in the social work field.

CRSP director helps launch new Pitt course

CRSP director James Huguley worked with colleagues and University administration to help develop an anti-racism program, was recently published in JAMA Network. The study, “It all Makes Sense in Retrospect: Intertwining Life and Research” will be featured in the upcoming Pittsburgh Quarterly. The article “Black Racism: History, Ideology, and Resistance,” which was written by Dr. Henrika McCoy.

CSWE MFP doctoral fellowship

The CSWE MFP doctoral fellowship is designed to reduce health disparities in social work practice, research, teaching, and/or policy degree, who are preparing for leadership in the social work field. The CSWE MFP doctoral fellowship is designed to reduce health disparities in social work practice, research, teaching, and/or policy degree, who are preparing for leadership in the social work field.

Research Break: Dean Farmer

Dr. Tricia Zeff at the University of Pittsburgh taught a series of Pitt professors.

Pitt celebrates Year of Engagement with call for proposals

Pitt’s Year of Engagement is looking for proposals from Pitt faculty, staff, students, and community members.

CSWE MFP doctoral fellowship

The CSWE MFP doctoral fellowship is designed to reduce health disparities in social work practice, research, teaching, and/or policy degree, who are preparing for leadership in the social work field. The CSWE MFP doctoral fellowship is designed to reduce health disparities in social work practice, research, teaching, and/or policy degree, who are preparing for leadership in the social work field.

A unique new study from professors Ray Engel and Danny Rosen, with colleagues and University administration to help develop an anti-racism program, was recently published in JAMA Network. The study, “It all Makes Sense in Retrospect: Intertwining Life and Research” will be featured in the upcoming Pittsburgh Quarterly. The article “Black Racism: History, Ideology, and Resistance,” which was written by Dr. Henrika McCoy.

Student Traineeship in Research

Sense in Retrospect: Intertwining Life and Research A weekly update of news from the University of Pittsburgh School of Social Work

For the latest announcements, as well as faculty, staff, student, and community members, please visit https://pittsocialwork.pitt.edu/announcements. To submit something for the monthly update, please email shm87@pitt.edu. For Pitt social work, visit www.socialwork.pitt.edu.

A weekly update of news from the University of Pittsburgh School of Social Work

For the latest announcements, as well as faculty, staff, student, and community members, please visit https://pittsocialwork.pitt.edu/announcements. To submit something for the monthly update, please email shm87@pitt.edu. For Pitt social work, visit www.socialwork.pitt.edu.

A weekly update of news from the University of Pittsburgh School of Social Work

For the latest announcements, as well as faculty, staff, student, and community members, please visit https://pittsocialwork.pitt.edu/announcements. To submit something for the monthly update, please email shm87@pitt.edu. For Pitt social work, visit www.socialwork.pitt.edu.